

Enrichment Activities 1

(Units 1 to 3)

2T CR

The Boy and the Cookies

There was once a boy who dearly loved to eat cookies. His father and mother asked him not to have too many. But whenever you saw him, he had cookies in his hands, in his pockets and in his mouth! When he woke up, he ate cookies. He ate them while reading, playing and walking. He always asked for cookies from Mum, Dad, Grandma and Grandpa. Everyone was worried. And, he would not share the cookies with anyone.

One day he was alone in the house. His family had gone to the market. He did not go with them because he wanted to eat all the cookies in the jar kept on the shelf in the kitchen.

He hopped, skipped and jumped to the kitchen and climbed on a stool and picked up the jar of cookies. You should have seen his eyes; they were bright with joy. He put his hand inside the jar and tried to take as many cookies as he could. As he struggled to take out many cookies at once, his hand got stuck. He pulled and pulled but his hand would not come out! He was very scared now and his hands were hurting. Then he tried to pull out his hand very hard and slipped from the stool and fell on the floor. The glass jar shattered into pieces. There were cookies everywhere, mixed with broken pieces of glass. Now he could not have even one cookie! He started to cry and understood that he should not be greedy.

Reading

Tick (✓) the right options to complete these sentences. Work in pairs. Share your answers with your partner. Go through the passage once again before checking each other's answers.

- The boy loved to eat
 - cakes.
 - cookies.
 - chocolates.
- The boy had not gone to the market with his family because
 - he was not interested in shopping.
 - he wanted to take some rest.
 - he wanted to eat all the cookies in the jar kept on the shelf in the kitchen.

3. The boy would share his cookies with
a. no one. b. everyone. c. only his friends.
4. In the kitchen, the boy climbed on a
a. bench. b. stool. c. table.
5. The boy could not eat even one cookie because
a. he was sick. b. he could not find them.
c. the jar broke and the cookies were mixed with bits of broken glass.

Listening

 Listen to the passage and complete these sentences. Show your answers to your teacher and discuss the answers.

1. The forest was full of beautiful _____.
2. Maisie's father was a _____.
3. The birds would sing more _____ when she passed by.
4. All the neighbours loved her because she was a _____ child.
5. She collected _____ in the forest.

Speaking

A. Which is your favourite fairy tale? Tell your friends. Tell them about the story and the characters, and why you like it the best. Is there something that we can learn from the story? Take the storybook to your class and read out your favourite story to your classmates.

B. Discuss the importance of reading stories from all over the world.

C. Work in groups of four. Look at the pictures given below. Choose any one image and make a story around it. Role play the story in class. Notice that each picture includes a few objects along with the human characters. With the help of your group members, create a few props that are important for your role/story. Use them while performing. A row of three circular icons: the first contains 'TC' with a person icon, the second contains 'C' with a person icon, and the third contains a lightbulb icon.

Life Skills Activity

Paste your photo in the space given. Now think of four things that make you happy. Write these in the clouds.

1. _____

2. _____

Your Photo

3. _____

4. _____

